

Excellency,

I have the honour to convey on the occasion of the "Day of Russia" my warm felicitations to Your Excellency and to the people of the Russian Federation.

The growing strength of the India-Russia special and privileged Strategic Partnership is a testimony to the time-tested and enduring friendship that exists between our two countries. Our partnership also contributes to global security and development. We are committed to further strengthening this partnership to mutual benefit of our peoples.

Please accept, Excellency, the assurances of my highest consideration.

Excellency,

It gives me great pleasure to felicitate you and the friendly people of Russia on the occasion of the National Day of Russia.

India cherishes its unique relationship with Russia, which is manifest in our special and privileged Strategic Partnership. The close relations between our two Governments are mirrored by the great affection between our two peoples. There is much we can be together bilaterally, regionally and at the global level. My Government and I are committed to further developing our partnership for mutual benefit and I look forward to continuing my close cooperation with Your Excellency in the years ahead in this endeavour.

Please accept, Excellency, the assurances of my highest consideration.

Excellency,

I have the great pleasure to convey to you and the friendly people of Russia my felicitations on the occasion of the National Day of Russia.

India cherishes its unique relationship with Russia, which is manifest in our special and privileged Strategic Partnership. The close relations between our two Governments are mirrored by the great affection between our two peoples. There is much we can do together bilaterally, regionally and at the global level. My Government and I are committed to further developing this partnership for mutual benefit. The Annual India-Russia Summits are an important fixture in our relationship and I very much look forward to welcoming Your Excellency to India later this year to carry forward our discussions.

Please accept, Excellency, the assurances of my highest consideration.
