

Russian Deputy PM Yuri Trutnev to visit India

Category: Foreign Policy News Monday, 13 March 2017 11:37 Written by Site Editor
Hits: 1131

---

Yuri Trutnev, Russian Deputy Prime Minister and Presidential Envoy to the Russian Far East, will visit India on Mar. 15-18.

He will visit Mumbai and New Delhi for a series of meetings with high-level government officials as well as senior executives of Indian corporations, the Russian Foreign Ministry said in a press note on Mar. 10.

Yuri Trutnev is eager to court Indian investment and participation in the Territories of Accelerated Development, special economic zones in the Russian Far East that offer tax breaks and other incentives to foreign investors.